About AFSC

The Association of Feng Shui Consultants is an independent, non-profit organisation founded in 2005, run on a voluntary basis by an executive committee elected from the membership. Our aim is to inform and educate the public about Feng Shui and to provide a list of consultants for their convenience.

AFSC members are qualified Feng Shui professionals committed to the Association's Code of Ethics. AFSC membership denotes a commitment to professionalism and has been developed to maintain, support, educate and share the passion for Feng Shui.

Our Mission

- Promote the integrity and benefits of Feng Shui to the public
- Promote continuing education for our Consultants & the public
- Promote, develop and monitor competence in the practice of Feng Shui
- Develop relationships with professional training institutions
- Set professional standards for Feng Shui in Australia
- Liaise with the public who wish to learn more about Feng Shui

Membership Benefits

Membership benefits include a photo listing on the AFSC website; access to forum discussions through an on-line member's only site; insurance details; access and input to quarterly newsletters; details of professional training institutions and educational and networking opportunities during the year.

Becoming a Mentor

The AFSC works closely with colleges and training institutions and it has been requested that consultants be asked if they would be willing to take recent graduates out on consultations to gain experience with experienced consultants. On the membership form there is an opportunity to be apart of this as it is a fantastic learning experience for both of you. If you choose yes your details will be forwarded to the college and/or training institution and it will be up to the graduate to contact you and organise any further details.
